ANIMAL PHOTOGRAPHY.

Kangaroos and Hyenas are the Most Difficult Subjects.

"The hardest of wild animals to photograph is the kangaroo," said the zoo camera expert. "He is constantly hopping around, getting out of range and focus, and his color is of that dark, neutral tone that requires long exposure to get the details. The leopard is a restless creature, and it is hard to catch him just right. When the animal is alert he makes an example of brute beauty that is worth preserving."

"But the monkey makes the camera artist earn his wages. He is a half human chap, with a sense of humor all his own. He is as full of humor and mischief as a healthy boy. As the monkey is mischievous, so is the lion proud and is easily the leader among the vain animals. He is the zoological Beau Brummel. The lion rather fancies the camera expert and whenever one comes in view will settle down into a graceful pose and keep it until the operator turns away. A camera seems to terrify the tiger. At first he looks at it in quiet amazement. When the operator draws nearer the look of wonder gives place to one of annoyance and the pressed back ears give token of anger."

"The problem of perpetual motion is almost solved by the hyena. It has a homely face, wide at the top and pointed at the bottom, and his meanness and treachery written in every line. About the only way to secure a good picture in his case is to let him fast so that he cannot move a jot. Even then results are not entirely satisfactory."

A Troublesome Creditor.
The poet, Clement Marot, being in very straitened circumstances, went to the king and said, "I have come to lay before your majesty a complaint against one of my creditors whose claims I have satisfied over and over again, and yet he persists in dunning and harassing me at every opportunity."

"Who is the scoundrel?" the king inquired.
"My stomach, sire. Though I have satisfied its wants time without number, it never ceases to torment, and I am utterly incapable of meeting its demands."

The king was pleased with the joke and allowed the poet a pension on the spot.

WARSHIP MODELS.

One Is Made For Each New Vessel That Enters Sea Plans.

Whenever Uncle Sam plans a new warship a miniature copy of it is made in advance exactly like the great vessel in all respects, but only five to eight feet long. This is done in order to find out exactly what the battleship or cruiser will look like when it is finished, for if any change seems advisable the fact may thus be ascertained before it is too late.

The little vessels are built in what is called the ship house in the navy yard at Washington from the original plans and drawings for the cruiser or battleship. Every detail is reproduced on a scale of a quarter of an inch to the foot. They cost several thousand dollars apiece, and when they are finished they are gravely and anxiously inspected by a board of naval officers, who discuss them from every point of view, making criticisms and suggestions. Every ship now in our navy has made its first appearance in this miniature shape. Even the guns, artistically carved out of wood, are represented, the minor accessories down to the anchors, battle hatches, skylights, steering wheels and even lanterns are reproduced in a metal composition called nickel silver. One man does all the work with the assistance of a couple of "down east whittlers."—New York Herald.

Calomel.

Calomel was discovered by Crolius in the seventeenth century, and the first directions for its preparation were given by Bequign in 1698. Its name is derived from two Greek words, signifying "a beautiful black," because in its preparation a black powder is the first step in the manufacture, being produced by rubbing mercury together with corrosive sublimate.

Jumping For The Train.

Citizen—Is it really only ten minutes' walk to the station from your house? Suburban—What a ridiculous question! Nobody in our lovely suburb ever walks to the station. I believe, however, that it's ten minutes' walk from the station.—Philadelphia Press.

Jumping at Conclusions.

"You're as bad as a playful kitten in jumping at conclusions," remarked a youth to his friend.
"Do kittens jump at conclusions?" asked the guilty one.
"Certainly; have you never seen kittens chase their tails?"

Waiting For An Eclipse.

Lewis Swift, the astronomer, told how he waited in Denver for the eclipse of 1878. For a hundred years astronomers had expected this eclipse, and three minutes before the computed time for it to begin Mr. Swift seated himself at his telescope and looked into a cloudless sky. "It was a solemn moment," said he. "No words can describe it. Slowly, as if time's ceaseless flow had begun to slacken, two of the three minutes had passed away, and no eclipse and nothing to indicate that anything unusual would happen. I then began to count the tick, tick of my sidereal clock till all the seconds had passed away, and no eclipse, but before the next tick I saw three black mountain peaks on the moon's limb glide on the sun. The eclipse had begun just three-quarters of a second too late." It is such things as this that make one respect the accuracy of the computations of the astronomers when they tell us about the distances in the heavens, the weight and size of planets and other kindred things.

The secret of education lies in respecting the pupil.—Emerson.

Faith Not Necessary.

You may be just as skeptical and pessimistic as you please. Kodak will digest what you eat whether you eat or not. You can put your food in a bowl, pour a little Kodak Dyspepsia Cure on it and it will digest it the same as it will in your stomach. It can't help but cure indigestion and dyspepsia. It is curing hundreds and thousands—some had faith and some didn't. Kodak will cure you if medicine can cure you, whether you have faith in it or not. Mrs. J. P. Bailey, Waugh, Va., says: "I'm 81 years old. Several years I suffered extremely with indigestion and dyspepsia. My grandson, A. Bailey, Jr., a merchant at Allwood, Va., sent me a bottle of Kodak Dyspepsia Cure. The world ought to know of the supreme benefits an aged sufferer has received from this great medicine. It entirely cured me and can eat all food." Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

PLATFORM ADOPTED

By the People of Breathitt County in Convention Assembled.

We, the citizens of Breathitt county, in convention assembled regardless of previous political affiliations, but with an eye single to the redemption of Breathitt county, hereby make the following declarations of principle:

"Resolved, First—That we approve the call, time and place for holding this convention."

"Second—That we believe in a free ballot and a fair count, an honest and economical administration of county affairs, equal rights to all and exclusive privileges to none, a fair deal to every man, and the redemption of Breathitt county from the misrule it has had for the past four years."

"Third—We believe that the power of the people should be supreme; that they should have a right to govern themselves, and that they should have a voice in the selection of their officers."

"Fourth—We believe in a wise and economical administration of the fiscal affairs of the county, that no more taxes should be collected than is necessary for the conduct of the government, economically administered; that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation; that the present tax rate is exorbitant, outrageous and unjust, and should be reduced at least one-half."

"Fifth—We denounce the present county administration for its utter disregard for law and precedent; we have seen our leading citizens shot down on the streets of Jackson, and instead of the so-called officers of the law making any attempt to apprehend the murderers, they rushed to the defense of those accused of the crimes; and we condemn the foul assassinations of Dr. B. D. Cox, James Cockrill and James B. Marcum, and point with horror and scorn at those officials who quietly stood by while the victims were weltering in their own blood, without so much as raising a finger towards rendering them aid in their dying agonies, and feel assured that the time has come and is now at hand for the citizens of this blood-stained county to call a halt and place a ticket before the people to be voted for at the November election, which, if elected, can and will say that the law must be respected and rigidly enforced."

"Sixth—We have seen our paupers denied the support that is due them; and the money that should have been spent for their comfort given to men in compensation for their political turpitude."

"Seventh—We have seen our voting places so changed that it is almost impossible for some of our citizens to go to the voting places to cast their ballot. We believe that the voting places should be as near the center of the voting precincts as practicable, and easily accessible to all the voters therein."

"Eighth—We believe that the Jackson Bridge should remain in the hands of the Fiscal Court, and that the money collected should be used in paying off the debt created by building it, and we are opposed to the squandering of the money on high salaries and other extravagancies."

"Ninth—We believe that the jury service should be distributed among the citizens of all parts of the county, and that no political favoritism should be exercised in their selection."

"Tenth—We believe that the contracts for the public works of the county should be awarded according to law to the lowest and best bidder, and not let to certain individuals privately for pecuniary or political favors at the expense of the county."

"Eleventh—We believe that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and that the finances of Breathitt county should be put on a cash basis, and not compel claimants to wait two years or more for their money, or compel them to discount their claims in some store for merchandise at a large profit to the merchant."

"Twelfth—That we honor and applaud Henry B. Noble, the present County Superintendent, for his honest and faithful endeavor to uphold the law in the administration of his official duties, and in the brave and patriotic stand he took in protecting his office from being taken from the hands of the man the people had elected."

"Thirteenth—We pledge ourselves and our candidates to work for the reforms needed and place Breathitt county on the high plane she should occupy, so that capitalists and others can come here and invest their money and develop our mineral and timber resources and feel that they have perfect protection to their lives and property; and, further, we endorse the candidates nominated here today as the Republican nominees for the respective offices for Breathitt county, and their names be placed under the Republican device, to-wit: a log cabin.

"Fourteenth—We earnestly solicit any and all of the papers of the State, regardless of their present or past political affiliations, to publish these declarations of principles."

J. B. McLIN, Chairman.
HENRY C. HURST, Secretary.

A CARD FROM TOM CENTERS

To My Friends and Fellow-Men of Breathitt County:

I stand in this county as a candidate for Jailor, and I respectfully request of the people to assist me if possible in procuring the office. Owing to existing circumstances the people of this county should take in consideration the way I was wrongfully confined in the jail, chiefly, because I am electing in the interests of myself for jailor, and, people, don't all of you think that I have a perfect right to do so, as I am a citizen of the county. Understand, fellow-men, that the county authorities did not have all to do with it. One of my relatives was an instigator in the proposition.

While I am now in prison the people shall see sometime that I am not confined. Now, fellow-men, judge the matter according to your own feelings and give me an opportunity. Very respectfully, THOMAS CENTERS.
Candidate for Jailor.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart, of Pekin, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me and saved my life. Since then I have used it for over 10 years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed, 50¢ and $1.00 bottles at Jackson Drug Co. Trial bottle free.

Miles and Roads in Erin.

Irish miles are longer than American miles—in fact, eleven of them make fourteen of such as are measured in this country. American travelers soon find this out, and if they are disposed to complain of the character of Irish roads they learn that the Irish think it unreasonable of the stranger to expect both quality and quantity. To one such grumbler the answer was, "If the quality is inferior, we give you plenty of it, anyhow." To another visitor who complained of the narrowness of the road the retort was, "Well, what ye lose in the breadth ye gain in the length."

Pope's Favorite.

Pope deemed the "Essay on Man" his most polished production, but was so fond of revising his poetry that the printed copy contained almost one marginal note for every line. If his wishes had been fully carried out, the second edition would have had so many changes as to be practically a new work.

FOUND.

John W. Dean had a pain in his back about five years and it finally became so great that he could not work and, in fact, could not walk at times. Several physicians failed to cure him, but he found a remedy, it was Smith's Kidney and Nerve Tonic. For sale by S. H. Stidham & Son, Jackson Ky.

The Sibylline Books.

It is recorded of Tarquin the Proud, seventh emperor of Rome, that an old woman came to him with nine books, which contained, she said, sacred oracles. She asked an enormous price for them, and when the emperor refused she flew into a rage, threw three of the books into the fire and still asked the same price for the remainder. The emperor again refused, and she thereupon threw three more into the fire and still asked the same price for the three remaining. This so astonished the emperor that he bought the three at the price for which in the first instance he might have had the nine. These were the Sibylline books, and their contents were long looked upon by the Romans as divine oracles.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27

Voted the Fusion ticket and redeem Breathitt county.

Can you afford to indorse the conditions that have prevailed in this county for the past four years?
Can you make enough money to pay your taxes and support your family if the Midnights are elected?

The people of Breathitt county already know how the Hagins administration was conducted and they say they want another one as near like it as possible. The county then got value received for all it paid for and the taxes were not half as much as they are now, but the paupers were paid their allowances in cash and when you had a claim against the county all you had to do was to go to the treasurer and get your money, instead of waiting two years or more as you have to do now. Elect S. S.
Taulbee County Judge and he will lower your taxes and restore the county affairs to their right condition. Elect Taulbee judge and he will see that when the county owes you your claim will be paid in cash. He will care for the poor of the county. He will arrange your voting precincts and voting places according to law. In fact, you can rely on him to dispense equal justice to all and give you an economical administration.

Vote for Taulbee and the Fusion ticket.

International Tailoring Co.

TO DRESS WELL
You Must Have THREE THINGS:

GOOD CLOTH—GOOD FIT—GOOD STYLE

GOOD CLOTH—This is the foundation of good Tailoring, without which the others count for nothing. Avoid those unreliable firms who deal in shoddy, and put your faith in the International.

GOOD FIT—This means more than the mere fitting of a garment to the wearer's measurements. It means giving to the garment that personality which at once marks it as made for yourself.

GOOD STYLE—We have every facility for keeping in touch with the trend of fashion, and our long experience enables us to detect the styles to be avoided. You may be sure, therefore, that while all of our styles are up-to-date and popular, they have an exclusive and distinctive air, and never pass the limits of good taste.

GABE HAYS.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Edward Marcum died at his home here last Friday morning, October 29th, after an illness of a few days. He was about 65 years old and had lived an active life. He was married, the Union Army in the beginning of the Civil War and served till the close. He then came back and was elected clerk of the county and circuit courts of his county. He was always a consistent Republican, having served as chairman of the county committee for about thirty years. He was always ready to help a friend and never hesitated to do what he thought was right. He will be greatly missed, as he has long been one of the most familiar personages on our streets. He left a good testimony. His funeral was conducted Sunday morning at the Baptist church by Rev. W. H. Betzer, after which his remains were buried by the side of his brother, J. B. Marcum, on the Heights.

Henry B. Noble's Dwelling and Store Burned.

On last Saturday morning about four o'clock the alarm of fire was sounded and the home of Henry B. Noble, who lives near the depot, in South Jackson, was discovered to be in flames. The fire had gained too much headway to be put out and all hands went to work to save what furniture they could. His store building, adjoining, soon caught on fire, but a considerable portion of the goods were saved, though greatly damaged. The residence of R. T. Davis, adjoining, was saved, although slightly damaged. The loss on Mr. Noble is very heavy, and we understand that he had very little insurance. There is not the slightest doubt that the fire is of incendiary origin, as there had been no fire about that part of the building where it was first discovered. The alarm of fire has been too frequent here for the past few years and something must be done to protect our property, as well as our lives.

All Honor to Judge Riddell.

On last Monday morning Judge Riddell turned his back on midnight methods and took a stand for law and order in Breathitt county. He appointed J. M. E. Davis, Wesley Turner, Sr., and Wm. L. Eversole, three of the best men in the county, Jury Commissioners, and instructed them to place the names of 250 of the best men of Breathitt county in the jury wheel, to be drawn for jury service during the coming year. He further instructed them to take the names from the assessor's books and to select the very best men in the county and not to use "lists" that might be furnished to them by anybody.

That lists have been furnished the Jury Commissioners by a certain gang here for the past several years there is not the slightest question of a doubt and the people here are all familiar with the trend of affairs in and out of court for the past several years. Judge Riddell has tried hard to enforce the law and restore order in this county since his induction into office two years ago but has become thoroughly convinced that he could not do so unless a radical change was made. More than 80 per cent of the people of this county are in favor of a change and they welcome with great joy this step that our highest judicial officer has taken.

That good jurymen have been selected for the next year there is not the slightest reason for a doubt.

Now, if the people will, on November 7th, go to the polls and elect the Fusion ticket by such a majority as will leave no doubt in the minds of the outside world that the people of Breathitt county are opposed to lawlessness and are opposed to having men accused of high crimes in office, then men with money will come here and help develop our county and make us the most prosperous people in the State of Kentucky. Can you afford to miss this great opportunity?

Judge Riddell has made a great stroke for our freedom. Let us help hold up his hands by electing men to office who have never been charged with crimes and who will stand shoulder to shoulder with him and the good people of this county in the restoration of law and order and the protection of life and property in our county.

REDEEM BREATHITT COUNTY.

Editor News:

During the present administration Dr. B. D. Cox, James Cockrell and J. B. Marcum, three of Breathitt county's best known and most useful citizens, have been assassinated. The only charge against these men was that they were honorable, influential and enterprising citizens, seeking the welfare of their country and good of their fellow men; but in the sight of the present administration these are painted on the canvas as the foulest of crimes, no man can be guilty of a more dastardly deed than to seek an honorable pursuit among his fellow men. Woe be the man who would dare claim that life, liberty and property are sacred and are entitled to the protection of the laws, yet more vile be the crime of the man who should claim that justice should have a seat among men; many times more vile be he who would claim her empire supreme—woe be the man who would dare to claim the court house a temple of justice instead of the seat of bloodshed and crime.

Fellow citizens, in the eye of the Eternal Judge, her walls are besmeared and checkered over with the blood of innocent men, her halls are ruled and freely trod by enemies of civil government, religion, justice and humanity. Her walls have grown venerable in the perversion of justice, honorable in the destruction of life, liberty and property, excellent in the refusal to recognize the laws of the country, and pouring wrath unrestrained on those who are progressive and useful, dazzling with the robes of Lucifer and majestic in the radiance of hell. Dismaled and horrid are their angels, who know not how to shine, but wear the worn-out smile of their leader, the grim horror of a dying fiend.

Honorable citizens of this blood-stained county, the leader of the so-called Democratic nominees for county officers with his attending crew, has taken the device of the Democratic party without the party's consent, and placed it over their names with the hope that you will justify their foulest of crimes by voting under that device, though it be forced to represent hell's deepest crimes and darkest injustices. Honorable Democrats, rescue your device from such disgrace and make it one of heaven's banners, floating on earth in the breeze of justice, lifted and sustained by true principles of manhood to that lofty eminence where rest the true light of human grandeur.

The two parties are as twin sisters, one standing as a check against the other to keep it in the right path where all true men desire to travel. But neither of these great parties represent crime, misrule, destruction of life, liberty or property, perversion of judgment, injustice nor bloodshed, and when either party, by device, is forced to represent anything but the will and interest of the loyal citizens of any community, county, state, or nation, she is a captive in the hands of the enemy of true government and manhood, and unless rescued, must waste her vital powers and sink in disgrace to its founders and the people who have adhered to such political principles, a fallen monument disgracing the political fabric of the nation. If we be true men and loyal citizens the country is better off with us all. No man should be put to death except by a just execution of the laws, after having had an opportunity of presenting his case and pleading all his rights. But the present administration has disregarded all such procedure (and at the will of high officials deprived the county of some of its best citizens).

Citizens, before casting your vote in the coming November election, think seriously, deep and long, reason well and consider your own lots, think on the end of evil and make provisions for your households, for you know not how soon the jurybox may be filled with men to try some one for your own murder, the murder of your own son, the outrage of your daughter by some beastly felon, as has been witnessed in your county seat, and the guilty wretch left unpunished by your courts—a reproach to our county, a disgrace to our daughters, and an eternal stain on the manhood of our county.

Every time a crime is treated light it lessens the security of life, liberty and property; it is an infringement upon the sanctity of home. Many of us lay dreaming and suffer these things to go on among us, so long as our own homes are free, but, gentlemen, when these things enter they are almost intolerable. Every home today lies more or less exposed, and is becoming more so each day. Then the question is, do you want protection at your home and credit abroad? This can be done alone by making sacred life, liberty and property, and each and every citizen restoring and preserving the sanctity of his home, by restoring and preserving the laws of the country, in their purity and dignity.

Fellow citizens, when you cast your vote at the coming November election, think. You either vote to perpetuate lawlessness and crime, or to restore the laws in their just execution. Think, whether you had rather see all the citizens prosper under a reign of peace and purity, or only a few at the expense of the public treasury and public credit, to the disgrace of your sons and daughters, and to the dishonor of your declining years.

The Western Country as Seen by Green Hensley.

MONDAMIN, OKLA., Oct. 13, '05.
Dear Mr. Editor, as I have been solicited by many of my friends and neighbors back in Kentucky to write them about this country, I thought I would give them a description of it through the columns of the News, provided you would kindly allow me the space.

I live in Mondamin, a small village beside the Frisco Railroad, and in the famous Otter Creek valley, in Kiowa county. I will endeavor to give a description of the land and its products.

The land here, of course, is level and as fertile as it can be. It is apparently adapted to all kinds of farm products, which grow here in abundance. It is reported by the farmers here that one man, with a little help, can cultivate 100 acres of land, which it is estimated will produce at least 30 bales of cotton, which will bring at least $50 per bale, or $1,500. The same amount of land sown in wheat, which brings at least 20 bushels per acre, or 2,000 bushels for 100 acres, and which is marketed here for at least 80 cents per bushel, or $1,600. The production of oats here is from 50 to 70 bushels an acre; which would make the minimum production of 50 bushels to the acre would yield 5,000 bushels per 100 acres, and at 25 cents per bushel, the market price here, would be $1,250. The above is about an average yield here. Yet there should be some allowance made for drouth, some season, though the people say cotton is not injured by dry weather. Grass grows very plentiful here, as well alfalfa, milo, maize, capricorn and all kinds of vegetables, while melons do well here.

You can begin to see the advantages of living in this country. The price of land ranges from about $7 to $20 per acre. The climate here is perfectly healthy; old men, 70 years old, are able to perform hard labor. We have no fever or other sickness to amount to anything, the climate being dry and healthy. I have gained in weight ever since I came here. The citizens here are all quiet and law-abiding; the country is free from rowdyism, swearing, shooting on the public highway and drunkenness; while good schools and fine churches are plentiful. There are many people here from Kentucky, as well as from other parts of the country, who have made good selections of homes. Farms back in the eastern part of the Territory are selling for five and six thousand dollars that are probably a better land, but have more improvements. It would be well for many people there to interest themselves in the real estate of this section, as the probabilities are that the price of land here will double soon; another reason is that it is a great place for a laboring man who desires large returns for his labor.

Mr. Editor, I will not weary you further. With best wishes to the News, I am yours truly, GREEN HENSLEY.
